NEW AQUEDUCT—BROOKLYN NOTES.

A TRIBUNE reporter called yesterday at the Department of Public Works to ascertain the amount of water on han; at present and the possible danger of a water famine this year. At the Croton aqueduct Department, Mr. Birdsall, assistant to the Chief Engineer, said that there was no possible danger of the supply being exhausted this full. "It is too late in the sum ner," he said, "to entertain such fears. There is no water running over the Croton dam, and there has not been for some time, but there is a large quantity of water stored in Putnam County, which the inadequacy of the present aqueduct prevents us from ber increasing population; our danger is from ber increasing population; our danger is from our small Aqueduct." NEW AQUEDUCT-BROOKLYN NOTES.

Patham County, which the loadequacy of the present aqueduct prevents us from bringing to the city. Brooklyn's dauger is from her increasing population; our danger is from our small Aqueduct."

"How does the present supply compare with the supply at this time last year!" asked the reporter. "It is greater, for there has been no drouth this memmer, but on the contrary the frequent rains have kept the lakes pretty well filled. Still I am reminded that two years ago the greatest danger of the year was in October. However, you may say that there are no indications of the supply of water being exhausted this coming fall."

In Brooklyn Water-Purveor Milne has made a report to Commissioner Ropes giving the result of the house-to-house inspection made by the Purveyor's Bureau for detecting leaks and revening the waste of water. The use of B-ll's waterpoone, by which jwater-leaks can be detected from the outside of a house, greatly assisted the inspectors, During the year thus far 300 more taps have been driven for supplying houses with water than were made for the corresponding time, i.s. Eyar. From its reservoir and driven wells, Brooklyn receives about 40,000,000 g.llous of water a day.

A IRBONE reporter called yesterday afternoon on Peter Hoe, one of the members of the firm of R. Hoe & Co., the manufacturers of printing presses. Mr. Hoe is the owner of some valuable land at Tarytowa, on which his country house is located. The proposed route of the new aqueduct wound passifrough Mr. Hoe's property. When Mr. Hoe was asked by the r. porter what he thought of the plan of the Aqueduct Commissioners, he replied:

"I regard it as a great mistake to run the aqueduct wound pass though the most valuable property along the banks of the hudson River. I he Commissioners, he repried with the rights of the persons who dwell along its way. RIDDING THE CITY OF OLD LAWSUITS. RIDDING THE CITY OF OLD LAWSUITS.

During the months of July and August the Counsel to the Corporation has caused to be made a thorough and systematic reduction of the number of actions pending in the Law Department, directing his attention especially to the closing up of old cases. A number of suits were found pending upon the books of the Department which had been begin before 1870, I pon careful inquiry it was ascertained that several of these had abated; others were discontinued; still others dismissed for want o prosecution; and motions to dismiss have been made and orders of discontinuance and dismissal have been obtained and entered in many other actions of more recent dates of issue. Of the suits already dismissed or discontinued, eighty-four complaints set up causes of action against the city, involving, in the aggregate, $306,129 65. The advantage to the municipal treasury of having these claims wiped the numerical treasury of having these claims who out is obvious; for it appears that every dollar of this large sum is how barred by the statute of

A MAN WITH A TENDER CONSCIENCE. A MAN WITH A TENDER CONSCIENCE.

John Burgamon, a German immigrant, arrived here about two weeks ago, and left his trunk at Castle Garden. Subsequently he returned to the Garden and took away a box which the officials supposed belonged to him. A few days later, however, another German went to the Garden and claimed the box, whose loss he bewailed because it contained 135 francs and valuable documents. Yesterday Superintendent Jackson received a letter from Burgamon explaining that he had taken the box away by mistake. He added, in substance, that to his sarprise he found that the box contained money, which, as he was "hard up," he thought he would retain. The documents he would return, as they were of no value to him. "I might have burned them," he naïvely adds, "but my conscience smote me." He also ados that the owner of the box may keep his truck, as it contains very little that he cares for. The letter closes with the information that the writer has sailed for the West Indies.

DULNESS IN REAL ESTATE.

The real estate market remains almost stagnant in the absence of dealers and capitalists from the city on their summer vacations. For several weeks little activity is looked for, but there is yet no evidence of a weakening in prices. Building operations are hold a little in check by the uncertainty as to the cost of labor caused by the recent strikes in the building trades. Among the private sales had week were cost of labor caused by the recent strikes in the building trades. Among the private sales last week were the following: The four-story flat and store at Sixthave, and Fifty-second-st., was sold by I homas Thacher to John Siater for $53.100. Nos. 84 and 86 Grove-st. were bought by William R. Martin from James Meagher for $80.000. Dr. D. A. Hodges bought four lots—tavo in One-lundred-and-theriteth st. east of Seventh-ave.—in 1879 for $9.600. He sold them last week for $22.000. Six lots in Seventy-fifth-st. east of Riverside drive were sold by William II, Jackson for $40.000.

PURSUING NON-UNION MEN.

The Building Trade delegates visited the Dakota Flats yesterday morningbut found no disposition on the part of the contractors to accede to their demands. All the men who struck on the building and on the buildings in Seventy-third-st, between Ninth and Tenth aves, have found employment, at Twenty-second st, and Broadway, where there is a building going up for Brooks Brothers, only a few bon-union framers are at work. The delegates visited the school which is in course of erection at Sixty-eighth-st, and First-ave,, where a number of non-union hod-carriers and bricklayers were at work. At the demand of the delegates the hod-carriers joined the union and the bricklayers were employed on the building at Eightleth-st, and First-av, but when the delegates visited the building the non-union men promised to join the union and no strike was ordered. PURSUING NON-UNION MEN.

A NEW PUBLIC BUILDING WANTED. President Shaler, of the Board of Health, is pre-paring an application to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment for funds to erect another public building. Soon after his appointment, his attention was called to the fact that the records of the Health Department are not secure against fire. The desiruction of these records by fire would cause serious trouble. In the Bureau of Vital Statistics alone are documents relating to marriages, births and deaths, which may become important in the settlement of property rights in this country or abroad at any time. Many of the records are placed on open shelves because the solitary vault is crowded already, and there is a constant accumulation of documents. It is believed by the Board of Health that a new building should be erected, large enough to contain offices for the uses of the several bureaus of the department, and the plans for the building would include large fice-proof vaults for the safe-keeping of the records. Mayor Edson was consulted recently and he favored the erection of such a structure. If the plans of General Shaler are carried out it is probable that the building will be erected further uptown than Mott-st.

THE WEAKNESS OF A HANDSOME WOMAN. ARRESTED AT SARATOGA ON THE EVE OF A BALL-A DETECTIVE'S CLEVER RUSE.

A. M. Jackson, superintendent for James McCreery & Co., dry-goods merchants, at No. 801 Broadway, went to Police Headquarters on Friday morning and showed to Inspector Byrnes the following order, written on fine note-paper by a woman, and sent by mail from Saratoga on Wednesday:

went to Police Headquariers on Friday morning and showed to Inspector Byrnes the following order, written on fine note-paper by a woman, and sent by mail from Saratoga on Wednesday:

Please send immediately a real fancy dress in any of the leading shades (oust neasure thirty-four inches) by return express. Wanting to wear it for Friday evening—something suitable for evening; a light sage green, something very stells, not to exceed $75°. Charg-the same to Mr. Louis De Jonge, Nos. 71 and 73 Duane-st. New-York. Send to Mrs. L. De Jonge, Foley Honse, Saratoga Springs, N. Y., immediately.

The handwriting, Mr. Jackson said, was similar to that of several forged orders which had been sent to the firm in the last fourteen months. On June 14, 1882, the firm received an order for fourteen yards of silk, worth $30, to be sent to Mrs. Albert E. Whyland at No. 54 West Fritteth-st. The silk was delivered and a bill was sent to Mr. Whyland, who refused to pay tt. It was acc-trained that Lord & Taylor, Le Boutillier Brothers, Benjamin Attman and other dry-goods merchants in the city had been swindled by the same woman who had made a fraudilent use of Mr. Wuyland's name. Twise in the following December the firm lost goods by sending them to the woman on forged orders. She used the name of Mrs. De Jonge on one occasion, and at another time she signed herself Mrs. Sheldon Shaw, of No. 1,748 Broadway.

Inspector Byrnes thought that the woman could be arrested on a observe of forsery, and he detailed Detective Sergeant McLoughtin to make the arrest. McLoughtin went to No. 71 Duane-st. and saw Charles F. Zentgraf, a member of the firm of Louis De Jonge & Co., who is also a son-in-law of Mrs. De Jonge, and Mr. Zentgraf went with the detective before Police Justice Herrman and made An attidavit to the effect that the signature of Mrs. De Jonge, we can be a forger, and gave it to the detective. STEALING WATCHES FROM BOYS.

STEALING WATCHES FROM BOYS.

Information of a peculiar robbery, which occurred in Central Park last week, was given at Police Headquarers yesterday. Two boys, who were the happy owners of watches, were strolling together in the upper part of the Park, when a benevolent-looking man approached and startled them with the exciamation: "Look out, boys, there is a band of robbers coming this way!" The boys saw several workmen in holiday dress on a path not far distant. "Here," continued the stranger, "give me your watches and I will keep them from being stolen." He took the watches from the frightened has and pretended to hide himself in some busines near the path. When the workmen had gone out of sight the boys looked for the stranger, but he had disappeared. One of the boys is a son of Isaac Teichmann, the wholesale dealer in cigars at Barelay and Greenwich six, who resides at No. 236 East Seventy second-st. A description of his watch has been given to the detectives, who are looking for the thief.

WHY A FRENCHMAN COMMITTED SUICIDE. A Frenchman of middle age hired a boat yester-day at the foot of West Seventy-second-st. and rowed out into the middle of the river. When he had got within a short distance of an excursion barge, which was passing, he took off his hat, coat and waistcoat and waved his arms above his head long enough to attract the attention of the people on the barge. Then he plunged head first into the water and was drowned before the asionished witnesses of his performance realized that he had committed suicide. Peter McDonald, the boatman, rowed out after the abandoned boat and afterwand gave the Frenchman's clothing to the police. There was a letter in one of the coat pockets, written in French, which was translated as follows:

Mrs. Lebon read the letter in the afternoon. She said that her husband was a drunkard, and that she had not lived with bim for some time. She earned her own living by dressmaking. Recently he threatened her with violence, and she obtained a warrant for his arrest. The police of the Jefferson Market Court were searching for him when he drowned himself.

In the work of excavating on Bedloe's Island yesterday, an Italian named Pietro Maffi was struck senseless by a large stone falling on his back. He was taken by the contractor's steam launch to Pier No. 1, whence he was removed to the Chambers Street Hospital. The accident was caused by the displacement of a large stone on which rested the end of the temporary bridge up which the carts struggle with their loads from the pit below. Mr. Chenowith had noticed on the previous day that the planking at that particular point was unsteady, and had ordered the Italian overseer to remedy it. The latter had some earth shovelled under the planking and between the timbers, but did nothing else. The consequence was that the gradual displacement of the stone was not noticed until it fell on Maffi, who was shovelling earth underneath the bridge.

colored school.

HUNTINGTON.—Mrs. Stokely, a widow, recently married James Taylor and went to live in the village of Huntington. Mrs. Taylor had several children by her first husband, and one of them, a daughter, was in the habit of going to see her mother daily. Mr. Taylor dishiked the young woman and one day turned her out of the house, using more force than she thought was necessary. She informed her brother Allen, who went to the house and chastised Taylor severely. After this they proposed to go to law, but were dissuaded from doing so by friends. The stepchildren, however, a few days ago while Taylor was absent from home, went to the house, moved all the furniture and took their mother home.
